[THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE'S Pittston department is in charge of J. M. Fahy, to whom news items and complaints may be referred.]

ERIN'S SON'S PARADE.

St. Patrick's Day celebrated by the Catholic Societies of this place. With hearts full of patriotism and joy the sons of Erin greeted Old Sol as he bobbed his beaming face over the eastern horizon early Saturday morning—St. Patrick's Day. It was the kind of a day that is often wished for but seldom seen at this season of the year. With the dawning of the morning could be heard the blare of the trumpets and the tap of the drums announcing the preliminaries for the big parade which was to start at 8 o'clock. Society men in full regalia, some on foot, others mounted, vied with each other in appearance, while old Irish grandmothers, full of enthusiasm over the days when they were bright-eyed lassies, stood side by side with their Americanized children's children. The column was slow in starting, but got off in good shape in the following order:

- E. J. Burke, Grand Marshal.
- Adls. John J. Hart, John P. Kearney, John H. Tighe, John J. Donnelly, John McMonigal, Ralph Gleason, Thos. Kelsey, E. S. Smith, J. J. Quinn, and Philip Higgins.
- Powderly Dram Corps.
- Co. C, 7th Mass. Battalion, Thos. J. Conroy, Band, St. Mary's Society.
- Star Dram Corps.
- Co. D, St. John's Society, Five Band.
- Branch 22, E. B. A., Lusk Cornet Band, Division of the A. O. U. I., Liberty Cornet Band, Division of the A. O. U. I.

The procession moved down South Main street to the railroad bridge, and counter-marched there to St. John's church, where special services were conducted for the societies by Rev. Father M. J. Kelly, who, at the conclusion of the services, delivered a discourse suitable to the occasion. The procession reformed on William street, marched up Main street to Union, counter-marched to Railroad, counter-marched to William, up the latter street to Church street, where it was dismissed.

MURDER MYSTERY AT PLAINS.

John Robt. a Soldier, Found Murdered by the Roadside. Early Saturday morning the body of John Robt, a Soldier, was found in Plains township, near the Horton colliery on the plank road, located about half-way between Wilkes-Barre and this place.

An examination showed the man had been dead some time. The body lay with the head toward the road and near it was a cigar which had not been lighted. The rest was open and the suspenders were hooked. Three wounds were on the body—one over the left nipple, one in the left wrist and one through the fingers of the left hand. The murdered man was short in stature and apparently 40 years of age, and boarded with a fellow countryman named Rosick.

County Detective Whalen went to the scene and viewed the body. Afterwards he went to the man's boarding house and was accompanied by Michael Gussack, an intelligent Hungarian, James Conright and Joseph Langdon. The boarding boss Lewis Rosick, was interrogated. He said he had seen the man and last night one had been shot and killed. The murdered man was in the house last night and had a few words with his wife about an unpaid board bill. He had been drinking some. John Burke, a young man about 19 years old, son of Mrs. Catherine Burke, it is said, was with Robt and was drinking with him. After the quarrel the murdered man had left the house, about 1:30 this morning, and the other boarders went to bed.

Whalen ordered all the occupants of the Rosick household to accompany him to Squire Perkins' office, which was done and a hearing had. They were all held for their appearance. Steps were taken to procure the arrest of young Burke, who it is claimed knows something about the affair.

The motive of the murder is shrouded in mystery. The general belief is that Robt was killed and placed where dead body was found.

DEATH IN THE FLAMES

John Mangan, Aged 11 Years, Roasted to Death in a Burning Building. The house of Michael Ford in Inkerman was totally destroyed by fire Saturday at midnight. At the time of the fire there were in the house Mr. and Mrs. Ford, John Ford, their son, and John Mangan, a grandson. The older Ford and his son made their escape from the burning building by jumping from a window. Mr. Ford in trying to escape became suffocated by the smoke and would have perished in the flame but for several men who forced in the window and enveloping her in blankets carried her out into the open air. She was found to be badly burned and with much difficulty resuscitated.

When the flames were at their height it was discovered that young Mangan was missing, and the conclusion that he was in the building became general when the spectators heard above the crackling of the timber his pitiful pleadings to save his life. The rescuers with much difficulty tried to enter the house, but it was useless, and in a short time the poor fellow's pleadings were heard no more. When the ruins had sufficiently cooled to permit a search being made his charred and charred remains were found among the debris.

The building was a two-story frame structure and was valued at $1,000. All the contents, together with $500 in cash, were destroyed. The origin of the fire is a mystery, but is supposed to be due to a defective flue in the kitchen. Mrs. Ford's injuries are about the hands and face and are considered quite serious. She was removed to the hospital.

Prevention is better than cure, and you may prevent that pitiful cry by using Hood's Sarsaparilla, which will keep your blood pure and free from acid tart and germs of disease.

Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or grip, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

TAKEN FROM REAL LIFE

An Experience Which a Great Many Have Passed Through.

MR. BARNARD'S RESCUE.

There May Be Persons Who Suffer, But Where Is No Reason Why They Should Do So.

Have you ever been run down, pale weak, and without strength? Has your food failed to digest, and have you felt that you were losing ground daily? Have you had no appetite for food, little interest in life, and no such thing as "happiness"? If so, read the following words of Mr. J. Calvin Barnard, who resides at London, N. H. He is an honest, intelligent and reliable man, and what he says is absolutely true:

"On January 1st of the present year I had been sick seven or eight weeks, and was so low that I could not treat myself in bed alone. I had no appetite, could take nothing except a little milk and water, and it was hard even to take that. The doctor said I must have nourishment, but milk and water was all I could take without distressing me. I was growing weaker and weaker. My friends and the doctor thought I must go down, but I am happy to say I elaborated the New Year by taking some of the pre-digested food of which I had heard. The first spoonful gave me a little appetite, and I began to revive. My strength increased so that in a week from that time I was able to be weighed, and found my weight to be 83 pounds. The next week I weighed 88 pounds, and in five weeks I had gained 20 pounds, all through the use of the great pre-digested food, Paskola. As my usual weight is from 140 to 145 pounds, I am not yet up to my former condition, but I verily believe that Paskola, with the help of the good Lord, has done wonderful work for me, and I am on the high road to health. As I have suffered from indigestion for years, have doctors and taken this and that, it can readily be understood how happy I feel over the result of this great pre-digested food."

Remarkable, you say? Mr. Barnard's case is only one of very many, for Paskola has restored thousands who had lost all interest in health and happiness to a condition of hope and joy.

A pamphlet giving full particulars respecting Paskola will be sent on application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Beale street, New York City.

Shot During a Row.

During a row in a speak-easy John Dolpin, of Parsonage street, was shot in the eye and lies in a precarious condition. The row occurred about 1 o'clock this morning and was participated in by a party of Italians and several friends of Dolpin. A brother-in-law of the wounded man received a half dozen stab wounds in the hand, body and legs.

And Still They Come.

Mr. W. H. Rutledge, who in the days when Pittston was in the old Seventh legislative district, was candidate for representative on the Democratic ticket "leading a forlorn hope," has, at the urgent request of his numerous friends, announced himself as a Representative in the Fifth district.—Gazette.

Physician Register.

Edward C. DeWier, of Tamaqua, Pa., a graduate of Hahnemann college, on Saturday registered as a physician. Mr. Dreher has decided to locate here and THE TRIBUNE'S many readers bid him welcome.

HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD.

In Short but Pointed Paragraphs for Quick Perusal.

The town council will hold a special meeting this evening. The funeral of John Managan, who was burned to death, occurred yesterday afternoon. Interment was made in Market Street cemetery. The machinery and fixtures of the old Wyoming Valley Knitting mill were sold at sheriff's Saturday morning. The bidding was slow. General McCartney, of Wilkes-Barre, and J. N. Anderson, of this place, purchased everything that was sold. The total amount realized was $1,269.50.

Louis Jester, the pugilist (?), of Wilkes-Barre, made himself conspicuous at Music hall Friday evening to the disgust of its many patrons. The West Side Journal got out a special issue printed on green paper in honor of St. Patrick's Day. Nothing slow about Editor Byras, to his credit be it said.

Editor Richards with his family passed Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Richards, of Butler street.

Dr. DeWier, of Binghamton, N. Y., passed yesterday as the guest of J. N. Anderson and wife, of the West Side. Burgess Bennett, of the West Side, held a matinee in the town hall early yesterday morning. The victim was a sobered drunk who paid his way and departed.

How Supervising Principal Shiel can be here, and reported in several papers as being in Honesdale, is a question that is agitating the professor at the present time.

The stove works, after three days' illness, will resume work this morning.

YOUR BOY

Your boy.

You hope he's going to be a great man.

You have to form his character, but that's not enough.

Frederick the Great.

Something ALL great men have had.

Your boy can't be great without it.

How to educate him.

Let him read and choose his own career.

You think education costs too much.

The very best education.

The best edition.

Only 12 days more.

Call and examine.

Think, act.

Your boy will be a man some day. Will he be an insignificant or a great man? That depends on the chance you give him.

You hope he'll succeed. It lies with you as to whether he will or not. You may not think so. You may think you can't do much with him. He's obstinate, perhaps hard to handle.

Well, these are points he'll have to overcome, more or less. However, his character is, to a certain extent, unchangeable. You can only modify, not radically change, his faults.

The father of Frederick the Great thought his boy was a blockhead up to the time he was 15 years of age, but he didn't stop educating him.

There's one thing that all great men have had, as boys, as young men. They have had it given to them or they have given it to themselves. Had they never had it they would never have become great. They have had education.

Your boy cannot possibly be anything, become anything, without knowing. The more he knows the better he'll be. Knowledge is power, riches, fame. You want to do your duty by him? Give him a chance. Teach him or let him teach himself. Give him education.

"Without books God is silent, justice dormant, natural science at a stand, philosophy lame, letters dumb, and all things involved in Cimmerian darkness."

If you give him books he will soon choose for himself the subject in which he is most interested, which he can most easily study. This study is the one he is most fitted to pursue, the one in which he will make the most success. It is natural that it should be so.

You think: "Books, ah yes, how many hundreds of dollars will I have to spend before he discovers what he is best fitted for?"

True, but there's another way. Invest $4.50 and give your boy the advantage of that greatest of all reference libraries, the Encyclopedia Britannica. It will place him on a par with the college graduate.

THE TRIBUNE EDITION is the best and latest edition of this great work, with all its wealth of information and education revised to the present time.

You have but 12 days in which to secure this great work at $1.98 per volume and on easy terms of payment.

You will find the Encyclopedia Store at 437 SPRUCE STREET. Open during the day and evening during these 12 days.

You certainly ought to think it over. We know if you think you will act.
